

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed toward determining an optimal mix of agents, subject to a grade of service (GOS) constraint, for handling outbound and inbound calls in a blended call center environment. Optimality is achieved through the ability to capture real time data via a real time interface (RTI) for each skill-set.